

Children adore Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle because her upside-down house always smells of freshly baked cookies and her backyard is filled with buried treasure that belonged to her husband, a pirate. Grown-ups love Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle because her magical, commonsense solutions always work — with plenty of laughs along the way. A quirky, friendly woman with brown sparkly eyes, she has innovative solutions for every manner of difficulty, from dealing with Answer-Backers or Won't-Put-Away-Toys-itis to handling Slow-Eater-Tiny-Bite-Takers. If, for example, a child refuses to bathe, Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle recommends waiting for the dirt to accumulate half an inch and then scattering radish seeds on the child's arms and head. When the plants start sprouting, the nonbather is bound to change her mind about washing.
