

Embracing Agents

We are going to face a technological development never seen before. Biology, artificial intelligence, big data, nanotechnology and much more are going to revolutionize the way we live and also the way we think in shortly. To be ready for this revolution, humanity needs to get organized democratically assuring justice, equality, morality and a better quality of life day over day without hurting our natural environment. Embracing Agents is a way of building a new social ecosystem empowered by technology to reach the best and most advanced society. I am optimistic and I think we can get what we deserve. Join the revolution!
