

One day, a shy little creature looked at its reflection in a frozen pond. All it could see were its eyes—and they were as big and bright as the moon! But the little creature doesn't know who it is! And so starts an important quest for identity. The little creature tracks down all its friends, from the tiny harvest mouse to the huge polar bear and asks, Who am I? But nobody has the answer—nobody, that is, except one wise friend.
