

In Rosalie Coffelt's first book, you will follow the adventures of several animal friends. These friends demonstrate the values of friendship, faith, family, and love as they help each other through various adventure and hardships they meet in their mountain home. From finding a lost child to freeing friends from captivity, they demonstrate how friendship, trust, and love can overcome difficulties in everyday life and how willingness to help others is a trait that can be related to human lives. These are entertaining and uplifting stories that children will enjoy.
